

Investment recovery professionals fighting investment fraud and financial abuse

AMERICANS TRUST THEIR FINANCIAL advisers, stock brokers and Wall Street firms with their life savings. Unfortunately, sometimes that trust is misplaced. Bob Banks is a preeminent attorney representing investors who suffer losses from negligence, greed and fraud of investment professionals. For more than two decades, Banks has handled cases against financial advisers, hedge funds and stockbrokers. He knows what it takes to win arbitrations under the unique rules of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA), where these cases are most often decided. In fact, he helped write those rules.

Named in Super Lawyers® for five years running, Banks is a past president and was a 10-year board member of the Public Investors Arbitration Bar Association (PIABA).

He is one of only seven investor-lawyers appointed to FINRA's National Arbitration and Mediation Committee. His cases and opinions have been featured in The Wall Street Journal, SmartMoney, BusinessWeek and The New York Times, among others, and he has secured some of the largest awards around for his clients.
